3. Train

It takes about 2.5 hours.

From Haneda Airport International Terminal to Tsukuba

You will need to change trains twice. The instruction is as below.

<Tickets>

Tickets can be bought from ticket vending machines around the gates. However, we recommend purchasing a prepaid transportation IC card, "PASMO", which can be used mainly around Tokyo area. It can be used for almost all trains and local buses.

* How to get a PASMO *

Where: Train ticketing counters / Train ticket vending machines

Cost: 500 yen as deposit. And you top up from minimum 1,000yen till maximum 10,000 yen.

Going to KEK costs about 3,000 yen each way.

The deposit and the amount of money left in the IC card will be refunded when you return the card to the train ticketing counters.

For more details, please refer to the following link.
